Attack On Singapore

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign News Analyst

FOR SOME THREE WEEKS Tokyo has been nervously forecasting a British attack on the mammoth naval base of Singapore which for nearly three and a half years has been one of Japan's key positions for offense and defense.

Frequently when the Mikado's spokesmen broadcast prophecies like that they are fishing for information from the Allies—hoping that we shall be foolish enough to make a report that will divulge our plans. In this case, however, the Japs undoubtedly are sincere, as witness that they have been evacuating civilians from the island to the Malayan mainland and are preparing for attack.

Well, they may be right. My information from good sources is that Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander-in-chief in the South-east Pacific, has been getting a lot of ships and material from Europe and is fairly well set for major action. It's worth noting, too, that Mountbatten attended the Big Three conference at Potsdam yesterday. Certainly it's a position for us to watch.

It is true that the Monsoon season, with its fierce winds and rains, is now in full blast over the Indian ocean. But this wouldn't necessarily prevent an operation against Singapore since the lower Malay peninsula is outside the Monsoon belt. As I see it, the British could make an amphibious invasion of the narrow part of the peninsula, establish a base through which to funnel reinforcements and supplies, and then fight their way down to Singapore, which lies just off the tip.

Recapture of Singapore would be one of the big victories of the war, for it would permit the Allies to reopen the narrow strait of Malacca between the Malay peninsula and Sumatra. Through this strait, which is a short-cut between the Indian ocean and the South China sea, the British East India fleet could pour for operations against the China coast and Japan proper.

It will be a great moment for John Bull when he starts his assault to avenge the disaster which the Japs inflicted on him at the beginning of '42. "Invincible" Singapore fell on Feb. 15 at one of the blackest periods of the World war for the Allies. The Mikado's forces had assaulted Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7. Wake island fell on Dec. 23. Hongkong followed on Christmas day and the enemy had occupied Manila on Jan. 2. Hitler already was counting his chickens—and why not!

Singapore was the most powerful naval base in all that part of the globe. It had taken 15 years to build it, at a cost of $80,000,000, and it was one of the wonders of the world.

Its 22 square miles of deep sea anchorage could accommodate the entire British fleet. It had a floating dock capable of handling a 45,000-ton battleship, a graving dock able to take care of the vast Liner Queen Mary, and great underground depots. It was guarded by huge coastal guns.

Nobody—barring the Japanese—had dreamed that this Gibraltar of the Orient could be captured or even harmed. Thus it was one of the greatest shocks of the whole war when the Japanese fought their way down through the steam-jungles of the Malay peninsula and swarmed over onto this 217

Shipbuilder To Enter

DETROIT, July 26.—The oft-rumored entry of Henry J. Kaiser, West coast shipbuilder, into the automobile field became a fact today with announcement that he and Joseph Frazer, president of Graham-Paige Motors Corp., had effected a partnership for manufacture of automobiles.

The announcement made here by Frazer disclosed a new firm, to be known as the Kaiser-Frazer corporation, will produce a full size, lightweight, low-cost car on the Pacific coast to be known as the "Kaiser." Another, in the medium-price field will be built in Detroit and will be known as the "Frazer."

Lower Points
On Meat Cuts
For August

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—OPA, reporting "definite improvement" in meat supply and distribution, today announced reductions in red point values for almost all cuts of beef, lamb and veal beginning Sunday.

The agency estimated that for the August rationing period about 9.5 per cent more meat would be available for sale over retail counters than in July.

With one exception, the reductions amount to one to two points a pound. The reduction for boneless rump roasts is three points. Most steaks are cut two points.

Present point values of all cuts of pork, canned fish, fats and oils, and dairy products will remain unchanged. Creamery butter continues at 16 points.

Total meat supplies for the August rationing period were estimated at 221,110,000 pounds, compared with 212,190,000 pounds for the present period. The estimate for beef is up 8,000,000 pounds, veal 2,280,000 pounds, lamb and mutton about 1,700,000. The pork supply, however, will be down about 3,270,000 pounds. Price Administrator Chester Bowles said the improvement in civilian supplies was due largely to lower military purchases.

Congress Is Cool
To Soviet Demand

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 26.—Russia's request for $700,000,000 worth of UNRRA aid met a mixed reception in Congress today.

Without reference to the Russian appeal, an UNRRA official said the agency's funds are running low and that nations participating in its relief and rehabilitation operations might be asked to increase their contributions. These now are fixed at one per cent of their national income for one year.

The Soviet government's initial application for help was disclosed by Roy F. Hendrickson, UNRRA deputy director, in response to a news conference question yesterday. He said the request would be screened, as are those from other nations, to determine Russia's ability to import goods and pay for them.

Members of the senate foreign relations committee available to reporters declined comment, but Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said: "I am very much afraid they won't get that much. I don't think UNRRA is going to operate on such a large scale."

Labor Party Headed By Clement Attlee Wins Smashing
Victory, Vote Tabulation Shows; Churchill Himself
Returned to Commons

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, July 26.—Britain, surging strongly to the left, threw out the Churchill government in election returns counted today and called the Labor party, headed by Clement R. Attlee, to lead the nation against Japan and through reconstruction.

The Labor party's victory was smashing. Its lead in Commons seats over Winston Churchill's Conservatives was nearly 2 to 1, in compilations at mid-afternoon.

Churchill himself and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden were returned to their seats in Commons, but a dozen of their most prominent colleagues were defeated.

The returns were from the July 5 election, the nation's first general poll in 10 years.

The Labor party campaigned on a platform calling for nationalization of basic industries. King George VI likely will call on Attlee, the party's mild-mannered and Oxford-educated leader, to form the new government on reconvening of parliament Aug. 8.

Attlee, who was deputy prime minister in the Churchill government until after the defeat of Germany, presumably will return to Potsdam to take up the Big Three deliberations interrupted yesterday to allow Churchill and his colleagues to return to receive the election returns.

Take 344 of 640 Seats

A compilation from official returns said Labor had won 344 of the 640 Commons seats, Conservatives 168, Liberals 10, Liberal Nationals 12, Communists 1, scattered votes for other minor parties and still doubtful 105.

It appeared certain the Labor party alone had won a good working majority, releasing it from the necessity of depending on other opposition parties to form a government.

Latest popular vote figures gave:

Conservative, 4,115,887.

The Labor party last formed the government in 1929 under the late Ramsay MacDonald, and held power until 1931 when it was forced to go to the people on the gold standard issue.

Following that election it was forced to lean heavily on the Liberal party section of the government coalition and in 1935, Britain's last general election until July 5, Stanley Baldwin led the Conservatives into power.

The Labor party pledged itself in this election to support nationalization of heavy industry, transportation, mines and the Bank of England.

Foe of Monopoly

The first thing Attlee and his party probably will attempt to do when they take over the government will be nationalization of the enterprises, including the iron and steel industry and all forms of inland transport.

"When monopoly gets into the hands of a few men, the only safe monopoly is a monopoly of the community," Attlee has declared.

He has promised political liberty for India "if they can achieve it for themselves" and he has declared for the closest possible relations with the United States and Russia.

There has been little outward difference of opinion between the Labor and Conservative parties on foreign policy, as shown by Attlee's willingness to accompany Churchill to Potsdam. The Laborites did challenge Britain's position in Greece.

The question of who will be chosen Eden's successor as foreign secretary remained undetermined, but speculation has centered around three names: In this order—Ernest Bevin, Hugh Dalton and Herbert Morrison.

All three served in the coalition cabinet of Churchill. Bevin as labor minister, Dalton as president of the board of trade and Morrison as home secretary.

The Laborites will "carry on the foreign policy of the coalition government," Bevin asserted at Labor headquarters.

Among Liberal party leaders defeated were Sir William Beveridge, father of the "cradle to the grave" security plan, and Sir Archibald Sinclair, air minister.

Manpower Shortage

YOUNGSTOWN, July 26.—Manpower-hungry steel industries in the Mahoning valley need more than 2,000 men immediately, the War Manpower commission said today.

The WMC also reported several hundred additional men could be used by railroads.

The WMC also ruled no woman who has worked in a war plant in the last 60 days may change jobs without a U. S. Employment service referral unless her layoff was caused by cutbacks or similar causes.

3 JAP CITIES
HIT BY B-29S350 Superfortresses Drop
2,200 Tons of Fire
Bombs On Targets

GUAM, Friday, July 27.—A sky fleet of more than 350 Superfortresses dropped more than 2,200 tons of the bombs today on three industrial cities scattered over three home islands of Japan.

Splitting into three task forces, the Superforts in the early morning darkness roared in at medium altitude and showered their incendiaries on these three prime targets:

Omura, one of the empire's most important chemical centers on the southernmost island of Kyushu.

Matsuyama, important port city on the western shores of the neighboring island of Shikoku.

Tokuyama, another chemical center as well as refining city on the neighboring island of Shikoku.

Tokuyama, another chemical center as well as refining city on the main home island of Honshu.

Third Strike of Week

It was the third time this week the silver giants of the sky had paid their devastating respects to the enemy homeland.

Omura had been hit by a fire-bomb raid June 18, but today's raid was the first on the urban areas of the other two cities although the naval fueling station and a synthetic oil plant on the Tokuyama front and the Matsuyama air field had been raided previously.

Matsuyama has a population of 122,000 Tokuyama 40,000 and Omura 177,000.

Omura is one of the most important chemical centers in the empire and a vital port for coal shipments. It also is the home of Japan's 10 largest synthetic oil refineries and a major zinc refining district.

Matsuyama manufactured cotton fabrics before the war but most of the mills have been converted to war production.

Tokuyama is the home of two large soda and chemical plants, a large refinery and oil tank farms. Its houses are of the typical Japanese frame-stucco construction, easily inflammable.

The new raid followed announcement by the 20th air force that devastation in Japan's urban industrial areas had reached 143 square miles in 39 cities.

"Good to excellent" results were reported from Wednesday midnight's attack by 100 Superforts on oil targets near Tokyo.

NO NEW TIRES YET
FOR 'A' MOTORISTS

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The OPA has allotted 2,500,000 passenger car tires for rationing in August—the same as in July—but no new tires are yet in sight for "A" motorists.

Urging "A" drivers to use every conservation aid, OPA said "it will be a long time" before new tires can be granted them.

The August quota of 386,862 smaller truck tires is unchanged from July, but the quota for truck tires size 8.25 and larger is being reduced from 234,308 to 200,800.

BIG WHEAT YIELD
BRINGS PROBLEMS

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, July 26.—While Ohio's wheat fields continued to give forth their richest harvest in years, the state's farmers, grain dealers, and millers began today to face the problem that is cutting heavily into the actual final yield—lack of freight cars to move the grain to terminals.

W. W. Cummings, secretary of the Ohio Grain, Mill, and Feed Dealers' association, said flatly that the only immediate solution in sight was for the farmers to hold as much wheat as possible in their own bins.

However, B. A. Wallace, a marketing specialist in the Ohio State university agricultural extension, warned that this practice had its dangers, especially damp weather.

Cummings agreed with state agriculture director, John Hodson that the freight car situation this year was worse than last year and Wallace added that "it couldn't be much worse than it is now."

"And we don't have half as many cars as we should have," he added, "even though this year's crop will be 20 per cent bigger than last year. The farmers will just have to put as much as possible in their barns, bins, silos, or wherever they can, even if they do risk it getting out of condition."

Wallace said that among reports coming to him was one from a county where the local elevators were full already with only a quarter of the threshing done.

He added that the car situation had dashed hopes of getting most of the wheat out of the way before the soy beans came in.

The official U. S. government forecast for Ohio wheat crop this year was 55,688,000 bushels, against 48,805,000 bushels last year and a 10-year average of 40,831,000.

24 OF ENEMY
WARSHIPS HIT
IN 17 BLOWSJap Fleet Is Immobilized,
Halsey Feints For Next Attack

(By Associated Press)

GUAM, July 26.—The taunting U. S. Third fleet which smashed 24 Japanese warships in the 17 days it has made the home waters of Nippon its own, moved menacingly off the Mikado's islands today deploying for its next blows at the enemy's stunned cities and shattered ships.

As Admiral Halsey pulled back to sea for a breather, there was no indication he intended to let up in his pounding of war plants, coastal defenses, airfields and the remnants of the Japanese fleet.

Japan still was harassed constantly. Five B-29s mined Osaka bay, off the southeastern coast of the main home island of Honshu and ten others sowed Wakasa bay on the west, radio Tokyo said in a broadcast.

Halsey Moves At Will

Halsey continued to move his ships about the enemy home waters as he chose, with no resistance on the sea. The Nipponese perked up a little in the air, but the few plants they put aloft were almost lost among the Allied hundreds.

Nineteen were shot down. Latest reports on Tuesday's strike indicated enemy warships caught like sitting ducks at Kure naval base probably would be on the repair list for long periods.

Listed as hit by torpedoes, bombs and bullets from 1,200 carrier-based planes that damaged them from "heavily" to "slightly" were 20 warships, including six aircraft carriers, three battleships and five cruisers.

British planes probably sank an escort carrier of the Kobe class and damaged an old destroyer.

The bag of enemy vessels was pushed to 24 by the four hit by Third fleet planes at the Yokosuka naval base July 18. The superstructure of the 32,700-ton battleship Nagato was heavily damaged. Two other vessels were damaged and a destroyer sunk.

19 Enemy Planes Downed

Of equal importance in speeding the end of the war were heavy new blows on the enemy merchant fleet, already reduced to such an extent it could not move sufficient supplies for the homeland or fighting fronts.

One oiler was sunk from the almost depleted fleet of tankers; nine cargo ships went down and 18 cargo vessels were damaged. Dozens of small coastal craft were sunk or damaged.

With the Japanese offering token resistance in the air, 19 enemy planes were shot down. Together, American and British airmen destroyed or damaged 190 other Japanese aircraft Tuesday and Wednesday morning.

Of the airborne enemy aircraft, 16 were downed over targets. The other three were attempting to attack Halsey's fleet, which probably was within 100 miles of shore.

There was no reason to believe Halsey's fleet had left Japanese waters.

Through Tuesday, 620 Japanese ships had been knocked out and 778 airplanes destroyed or damaged in 15 days of strikes by units under Nimitz' command.

OPA ELIMINATING
BOGUS GAS COUPONS

CLEVELAND, July 26.—Careful screening of gasoline ration stamps in the Cleveland regional verification center, together with speedy prosecution of dealers who have turned in counterfeit stamps, has virtually wiped out the counterfeit black market in gasoline. Regional Office of Price Administrator Birkett L. Williams declared today.

Circulation of stolen coupons is the number one gas rationing problem, Williams said.

He reported 385,000 bogus gas stamps were detected in October, 1944, but that in June of this year only 8,285 were found in envelopes turned in by retailers.

He cited similar improvement in the reduced number of counterfeit Red stamps deposited since the verification center has been screening all food stamps.

Last month in the Cleveland region 156 gasoline suspension order proceedings were instituted together with 32 criminal cases and six injunctions and treble damage cases.

The Cleveland OPA region includes Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Seismographic Nightmare

On an ordinary day in Japan, not counting bombing raids and heavy shells from battleships lying offshore, the seismograph records about four earthquakes. Occasionally, of course, one of these turns out to be a major disaster. Each of them is a potential disaster, so precariously balanced is Japan's geologic underpinning.

While speculating about ways and means of bringing the Japanese war to an end sooner rather than later, only a thoughtless speculator will overlook the very great assistance that might be provided by nature. A volcanic country whose area of 148,756 square miles is under attack by as many as 2,000 bomb-bearing airplanes a day, to say nothing of high explosives lobbed from ship to shore and foot-stomping going on in some of the most exalted places, is a seismographic nightmare at best. At present—well, we trust the seismic experts in the United States are keeping close watch for signs of activity in Japan.

But No Repentance

The Associated Press reports that high German leaders who were forced to look at atrocity movies had varying reactions.

Kesselring, the general, turned pale.
Ribbentrop, the diplomat, emerged with a bowed head.

Streicher, terrorist, was nervous.
Frank, who was in charge of murdering Poles, gagged.

Doenitz, who presided over the final collapse of Germany, was confused because he thought the idea was to show him and his fellow prisoners why they were going to be executed.

Goering was reminiscent; he said it was the kind of pictures the Germans used to show the Russians.

Repentance is not an obvious reaction and the Associated Press cannot be censured for failing to look for visible signs of it among the 52 fallen Nazis who saw the pictures. But if any of them had cared to admit in a reasonably loud voice that he was sorry, it's certain that would have been as newsworthy as that old chestnut about a man biting a dog—and every newspaper reader in the nation would know about it by this time.

Man With a Chronic Complaint

Col. T. Monroe Johnson's complaint that the army has been keeping him—the chief of the Office of Defense Transportation—in the dark on its redeployment program is not a lone cry in the Washington wilderness. The nation's nominal chief of transportation isn't the only one who has a complaint about the military attitude that civilian officials can like it or lump it.

Throughout the war, officials who were not confidential to military plans, could choose between guessing what military needs were going to be and admitting they didn't know and couldn't find out. There has been a consistent policy, according to those who have had most frequent cause to try to find out what was forthcoming, of assuming that military needs could be satisfied on demand. One of the hardest wartime fights inside Washington has been and apparently still is the fight between military authority and those who contend it should be more mindful of civilian requirements, in order to maintain the maximum war effort.

Col. Johnson's explanation that transportation has been needlessly snarled by army failure to tell him in advance about redeployment rates is more than a public official's cause for being in a jam. It is a declaration to the Senate committee with responsibility for investigating the conduct of the war that a chronic complaint has become acute in the case of national transportation. Col. Johnson, in other words, has served notice that he is not going to take the blame for a situation that has handicapped other coordinators throughout the war.

At The Soapsuds Level

Secretary of Agriculture Anderson's promise of 100 million more pounds of "heavy duty" soap during the 12 months beginning Aug. 7 is big news at the operational, or soapsuds, level of wartime living.

If Secretary Anderson were to authorize a poll on the question, he might even feel justified in going a step further and starting rationing of laundry and cleaning soaps.

Or, if he merely were to ask the next 10 women he talks to whether or not they think something drastic needs to be done about heavy duty soaps, he might not need a poll. Soap is indispensable.

There has been no single shortage that has perplexed a nation noted for its cleanliness half so much as the laundry soap shortage. There are substitutes for virtually everything else on the shortage list, but there is no substitute for the right kind of soap on wash day.

On the supposition that it is Mr. Anderson's principal job to take as much heat as possible off the federal government for dislocations of essential supplies on the home front, he couldn't have picked a better place to start. Americans will go meatless, tireless, shirtless and underpantsless in reasonably good grace, but they must not be asked to go dirty.

Expendable Aircraft

The United States government and its tax-paying citizens have spent billions to build the mighty force of military air power so indispensable to the defeat of Germany and the impending defeat of Japan. And since the road to victory is not measured in dollars, the people of this country have never questioned or begrudged the vast sums that have made this air force possible.

But perhaps all of us do not realize fully how little of that expenditure can ever be recovered, in spite of the thousands of aircraft already declared surplus and the thousands more that will be left when the war is won. Military aircraft are basically self-propelled artillery. And in the final analysis, they are as expendable as the bullets and bombs that they carry.

The Surplus Property board has reached that conclusion after a commendably thorough study and some understandable hesitancy. Some weeks ago it ordered the salvaging and scrapping of all unusable surplus aircraft, which includes a vast majority of surplus combat planes.

The Surplus Property board hopes that aluminum alloy and a chemically-produced pure aluminum can be recovered from aircraft scrap. But as yet the Surplus Property board has announced no policy in regard to surplus airplane engines and propellers.

Many war-used and replacement engines and propellers are already surplus. There seems little that can be done with most propellers. For example, one four-blade propeller of a bomber weighs more than the average two-passenger personal plane.

There has been some discussion of converting the engines, with their high horsepower and high consumption of highly refined fuel, to commercial purposes. But no satisfactory solution has been reached, if indeed it is possible.

All safe and practical salvage of war material should be undertaken. It represents competition to civilian industry, but that is unavoidable. However, it should be done as quickly as possible. For delay in deciding whether or not to salvage, which carries the threat of a sudden dumping of salvaged goods on the future market, is a hazard to industrial planning and the creation of jobs.

The hazard is particularly great in aircraft manufacturing. The war has boomed it into the precarious position of being the country's biggest industry, and at best it is due for a terrific peacetime contraction. So it ought to prove an eventual boon to reconversion and re-employment if the Surplus Property board would fully accept the unhappy fact that war is wasteful and unbusinesslike, and that some of war's most expensive tools become useless at the war's end.

The Stars Say

For Friday, July 27.

RATHER adverse astral indications make for a day of complications, perplexities, and discord, which might provoke a very disagreeable and regrettable situation unless an idealistic or imaginative attitude be brought to bear on the dangerous condition. The wrangling might be owing to a misunderstanding or distortion concerning writings, contracts or personal correspondence. Read carefully before attaching the signature to any document. It is fortunate that higher appreciation of current affairs may save the day.

Those whose birthday it is may have an opportunity to convert a troublesome and inharmonious state of affairs, by holding a firm check on tongue and temper, with a kindly and sympathetic attitude, should disagreeable situations be concerned with writings, contracts or documents. By letting ideals and imagination be allowed to sway decisions, there may be satisfaction and gain. Shun rash and impetuous moves, and be not led away by emotionalism.

A child born on this day may be tempestuous, emotional and reckless, to its detriment. However, it has an undercurrent of fine ideals, imagination and compassion.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Vincent's Angina, A Mouth Disease

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

VINCENT'S infection, or, as it is also called, Vincent's angina is a disorder affecting the gums and mouth. There is still a great deal of dispute as to exactly what produces the disorder, and what may be the best method of treatment. Some believe it to be a disorder due to a deficiency of certain vitamins, particularly those of the B-complex, such as niacin and riboflavin.

The lack of the vitamin allows the tissues of the mouth to be attacked by germs such as staphylococci which are normally present in the mouth. Others believe the condition is due to a combined infection with two germs, one known as the spirillum of Vincent and the other, the fusiform bacillus. There is also some dispute as to whether it might not be produced by mechanical or chemical irritation of the mouth tissues.

Various Treatments

Various forms of treatment for the disorder such as preparations that furnish oxygen, the use of arsenic-containing drugs as well as those containing chromic acid have been employed with good result.

Recently, Doctor Carlos F. Schuessler and his co-workers, of the Dental Corps of the Army have treated a number of patients suffering from Vincent's infection with penicillin. Patients were selected who had the disease in a severe form, and who had not had any previous treatment. No treatment was used other than the penicillin until the sores and inflammation cleared up. The patients ranged in age from 18 to 37 years of age and with few exceptions were cigarette smokers.

Two Way Approach

The treatment with penicillin was carried out in two ways. The first group of patients was treated by injections of penicillin given into the buttock muscles at three-hour intervals, five to eight times a day. The second group was treated by applying the penicillin solution, or penicillin in a powder, directly to the mouth. The solution was applied three times daily, and held in the mouth two minutes following treatment. The powder was applied to the sores with an atomizer five times daily, at three-hour intervals.

Still another group was treated with sprays of a dilute solution of penicillin. In all cases, the treatment was continued until the germs present in the mouth were of the normal variety.

Check Effectiveness

In order to check the effectiveness of the penicillin, other patients were treated with hydrogen peroxide wash, and chromic acid, and niacin. In the patients treated with the solution of penicillin, failure occurred in only one out of 25 to 30 patients. On the other hand, in those treated in other ways, failures varied from one out of every ten patients to one out of every four patients.

The defeat of Germany did not automatically wipe out the carefully cultivated anti-Semitism in both Germany and Axis-occupied Europe.

Advances in science mean more jobs, higher wages, shorter hours, more abundant crops, more leisure for recreation, for study, for learning how to live without the deadening drudgery which has been the burden of the common man for ages past.

Buying bonds is one way to prove to the boys and girls in the Armed Forces that we are back of them. Another way is to refuse to patronize black markets of any kind.

It is my absolute conviction, after 20-some years in business, that if we don't promote local, independent business, we are going to end up with a few great companies, and that would be very unfortunate for the economy.

Progressive farmers look on their farms as "food factories" having production and manpower problems the same as other industries. They consider it poor economy to use the time of scarce help on such tasks as pumping water or shelling corn by hand when electricity will do the job for about a penny an hour. Wages for farm help are much higher, but the average price of electricity is lower than it was before the war.

SALISBURY, Md.—Salisbury Rotarians, about to hear a fellow member discuss the subject "60 Million Jobs" at a dinner meeting, knew where there were six immediate openings.

Because of a shortage of waiters, the club's steward's committee had to serve the 75 diners and carry the dirty dishes back to the kitchen.

THE QUALITY OF JUSTICE IS NOT STRAINED—MUCH

CHICAGO—Judge Cecil Smith ordered a $2 fine in a traffic case. The defendant fished in his pocket—he had left his wallet at home. His lawyer had only a couple of checks. So the judge loaned the attorney $2 so he, in turn, could lend the money to his client to pay the penalty.

NEWLY HATCHED CHICKS ARE FLYING NOWADAYS
KANSAS CITY—Baby chicks are traveling farther and faster than ever before.

Put aboard planes in the usual cardboard shipping boxes containing 100 chicks, they can reach any point in the United States within the 72 hour limit during which a newly hatched chick is self-sustaining.

A typical hatchery in Windsor, Mo., which ranks with Iowa, Indiana and Ohio as primary producing areas in the nation, has shipped nearly 20,000 day-old chicks to the east coast this season.

Air shipments are in no way an experiment. For several years chicks have been flown from the United States to South America. This is the first season, however, that shipments of any size have been made regularly by air from Midwest hatcheries to the eastern market.

Members of the crew of the German cruiser Leipzig didn't salute when the barge of British Admiral Baillie-Grohman passed in Kiel Harbor. ### PROFESSOR URGES ACCENT ON PRESENT

CHICAGO — Grade school children know more about aviation than do their teachers, according to E. T. McSwain, Northwestern university professor.

Curricula must be revised and teachers trained so that the schools can help the children meet contemporary problems, he said, adding that too much time is spent on past instead of current issues.

"Children cannot learn democracy by just reading about it," McSwain said. "They must be put in classrooms where these principles are applied."

More emphasis on newspapers, radios and movies is needed, and less on textbooks, he said.

"Children must learn not to accept everything they read in textbooks," he added.

"It is unfortunate that one rarely finds a child being taught in school how to read a newspaper critically."

LUXURY LOUNGERS

BY EPSIE KINARD

NEW YORK—For fall and winter new lounging ensembles will bloom with out-of-season, hand-painted roses, and will be lit up like a jeweler's window by sequins.

Collections bristle with fabric interest—brocade, satin damask, velvet, hand-painted crepes, and woven plaid taffetas. Combined for all of the excitement a woman could crave are black velvet, which makes yoked waistband slacks, and hand-painted crepe which fashions the tuck-in blouse.

This especially effective combination, sponsored by Clare Potter, is seen above at right. On a "canvas" of blue and white checked background crepe, huge red roses and black abstract motifs are hand-painted to turn a blouse into a conversation piece.

For more elegance, thanks to a movie—"A Thousand and One Nights"—in which the girls swank it in such alluring togs that a manufacturer has been inspired to copy some of the styles. Typical examples are the other two styles pictured. At left, above, multi-colored plaid taffeta makes a tunic-type coat with ruffled revers and self belt, which tops slim green crepe trousers. At lower right the overblouse, worn with black crepe trousers.

With District Men In The Service

Watching eight Jap suicide planes diving toward you is no fun, according to Marine Corp. Forrest B. Rich, 22, formerly of Salem, a mechanic with an observation squadron who recently returned to the States for furlough and reassignment.

Rich, who took part in the Tinian, Saipan, and Okinawa campaigns, went through this experience while his transport was standing offshore at Okinawa. Anti-aircraft batteries took care of six of the Kamikazes, but two of them got through the screen of flak and hit a nearby LST.

Rich attended Salem High school and has three brothers in the service. John, an Army pilot; Alfred, AMM second class in the Navy, and Dexter Rich, a Marine private. Forrest's wife and 29 months' old son reside at Ashland, Ky.

Pvt. Rudolph Hrovatic is spending a 12-day furlough with his mother, Mrs. Frances Hrovatic. Formerly stationed at Fort McClellan, Ala., he will return to Fort Riley, Kan.

Pvt. Virgil R. Coy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry H. Coy of 251 Jennings ave., is with the 38th "Cyclone" division mopping up Japs on Luzon. He entered the service in November, 1943. He embarked overseas in May, 1945.

Pvt. Coy attended the Goshen High school, graduating with the class of '43. Prior to entering the service he was employed as a tube tester for Babcock & Wilcox of Alliance.

Pfc. Milton S. Marple is spending a 30-day furlough with his wife, Viola, and family of Aetna st. He served one year in Europe, during which time he was awarded the Good Conduct medal, European Theater ribbon and four battle stars. At the conclusion of his furlough he will report to Camp Atterbury, Ind., where he will be reassigned for duty in the South Pacific.

Plane Scares Bathers

SANDUSKY, July 26—The Civil Aeronautics administration at Cleveland said they would investigate today the landing of a plane on Cedar Point beach yesterday by Delbert A. Comstock of Amherst, Lorain county.

Edward J. Smith, president and manager of Cedar Point, said Comstock circled his plane twice over the beach, frightening the bathers, who thought the plane in trouble. After he landed he was "roughed" by several bathers.

Correspondents Tell of Interesting Island
War Happenings

By JAMES HUTCHESON

TAWI TAWI, Sulu Archipelago, Philippines—The Moslem Moros of this new American war base closest to Borneo shout "Hey, Joe! Good trade, Joe!" From dawn to dusk as they paddle their canoes around ships in the harbor.

Bolo knives with hand-carved scabbards go like hotcakes to the Americans. The Moro trading canoes also carry chickens, eggs, shells, goats, fruits, metal keepsake boxes and other items. But Bolos are the number one item.

After the "good trade, Joe!" approach, the shouted bargaining goes something like this:

"How much for bolo?"

"One mattress cover, one shirt, one pants," and the Moro points at the American's clothes.

"Aw, that's a holdup. I give you one mattress cover, one carton cigars."

"Good bolo, Joe. One mattress, one shirt, one pants."

After a bit of haggling, it's a sale for a mattress cover and a shirt.

The mattress cover has become a valuable item with these people who have been virtually without cloth for three years.

Womenfolk can use it for making any number of things.

Cigarettes carry a high trading value here. They bring, for instance, about eight bananas to the pack.

Occasionally one of the Moros will side alongside and shout:

"Sucker Joe here?"

He might be prompted by a seaman's gag or he might, some say, be asking for a certain gentleman from Hollywood. The latter, a scenario writer on a quickie war zone tour for atmosphere, paid $100 for a bolo and sheath, much to the disgust of the boys who try to keep inflation down.

The over-the-side bartering is reminiscent of the early Philippines invasion days around Leyte, there is one other notable difference. Women and girls rode the canoes with the menfolk in the rest of the Philippines, but not among these Mohammedan Moros. In two days at anchor we saw only one Moro woman in a canoe. She sat with shawl around her head and face.

For every turn of the canoe she would shift to keep her face hidden, while peering over the edge of her shawl.

The only other feminine Moro to appear was as bare as the blade of a bolo, and without a sign of self-consciousness. She entertained with a native dance on the improvised canoe decking. She must have been all of five years old.

Wheat Crop Insurance Being Sold To Farmers

Clifford F. Shaw, Columbiana county chairman of the AAA, announced today that insurance contracts on the 1946 wheat crops are now being sold through agents authorized by the county AAA committee.

By obtaining a Federal Crop Insurance contract, county wheat growers may protect their 1946 crop against all natural hazards, including the weather. They may be protected up to 50 or 75 per cent of their average crop yield. Premium rates for 75 per cent coverage are 1.3 bushels; for 50 per cent coverage, the rate is 0.3 bushels. Premiums are payable in cash or through notes with liberal terms.

Sales agents are now calling on county farmers to offer them their choice of the two contracts. Both are for three years, covering the 1946-48 crops. Applications must be received from at least 50 farms in the county in order for the crop insurance to be available to county farmers. Applications for the insurance may also be made through the county AAA office.

Divers Find Corpses In Flooded Berlin Subways

BERLIN, July 26.—German divers have found hundreds of corpses still clogging a flooded three-mile section of Berlin's subway in the heart of the city, and have refused to continue work there, officials disclosed today.

The stretch of subway, running under Unter Den Linden from Anhalter, was being used as a hospital during the fighting for Berlin. Nazi S.S. leaders are reported to have flooded it when those in the tunnel signified a wish to surrender just before the city fell.

Health Association Head
Cites Indifference of State Legislators

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, July 26.—Efforts to interest state legislators in improving fatalities for care of tuberculosis patients have met with "unbelievable" rebuffs and indifference, Dr. J. B. Stocklin, president of the Ohio Public Health association, declared today.

Dr. Stocklin in a letter to State Senator James Metzgerbaum (D-Cleveland) stressed that Ohio ranks 45th among the states in expenditures per tuberculosis death, and added that "the whole disgraceful record of the state is too long to bear recitation."

"This year," wrote Dr. Stocklin, "an attempt was made to interest the legislature in this problem. It met with a series of rebuffs and indifference that was almost unbelievable."

"It is difficult for me to see how a supposedly intelligent group of legislators can ignore this problem when the records show that 2,755 Ohioans died from tuberculosis last year."

Dr. Stocklin added in his letter "the Ohio State Department of health has been so long neglected that the state has become the laughing stock of public health officials throughout the nation."

The association's president wrote in reply to an outline made by the senator of the state welfare bills upon which Metzgerbaum was working, and in which he stated that "the state has sufficient facilities for the ordinary tuberculosis."

OHIO NURSES TOTAL 3,535 IN SERVICES

COLUMBUS, July 26.—Ohio has sent more than 3,535 registered nurses into the Army and Navy since Pearl Harbor.

Miss Catherine Forrest, recruiting officer for the State Nurses' association, reported this today and added that with military needs for graduate nurses met, replacements for the armed forces henceforth would come solely from the Cadet Nurse corps.

Sixty-one of Ohio's 63 schools of nursing participate in the Cadet Nurse corps program. Miss Forrest said about 8,000 students are enrolled in nurses training in Ohio today.

She reported 40,000 recruits from throughout the nation are needed by the Cadet Nurse corps for civilian service and military replacement by Jan. 1946.

SINGLE U. S. BLOW TO CRUSH JAPAN

WASHINGTON, July 26. — Gen. Jacob L. Devers, new chief of Army Ground Forces, said the plan is to mass a force for a single crushing blow against Japan, adding "there's no use doing it piecemeal."

At a news conference with Acting Secretary of War Patterson, Devers said "we hope to get there 7,000,000 (the approximate total of the army after partial demobilization) reemployed against the Japs in a single blow."

He explained he did not mean the whole 7,000,000 would be used "on one small island" and that they would be needed here in this country, in the pipeline of supply that feeds the forces on the Pacific front, and elsewhere.

The general was commander of the 6th Army group in the European fighting.

The big job now, he said, is to get the men who have been on furloughs back to camp and put them in re-training for the Pacific war. Along with them must be trained men coming into the army for the first time and who will go into the reorganized outfits bound for the Pacific. The men will be given a minimum of eight weeks' re-training, he said.

Japs Say Landing Near Malay Fails

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—An unconfirmed Japanese broadcast reported today an American reconnaissance force landed on Puket island, off the west coast of the Malay peninsula yesterday but was driven "back to the sea" by the Japanese garrison.

Puket is in the Bay of Bengal 625 miles north of Singapore. This is in the British area of operations.

The broadcast said two cruisers began shelling the island about 8 a. m. Wednesday. Behind this bombardment six transports disgorged 500 troops.

The Japanese garrison, Domei news agency continued, "repulsed the enemy troops from the landing point with heavy casualties inflicted on the invaders."

Subsequently cruisers continued their bombardment while Allied planes strafed nearby airfields.

Domei said apparently "the enemy's ill-fated invasion attempt has been for the purpose of conducting reconnaissance in force, rather than any major landing operation."

square miles with its population of some 600,000.

It can be assumed that the Japanese have kept the base up to par. What they may do in the way of destruction when their day of doom approaches remains to be seen. The latest information available is that they have some 75,000 troops on Singapore and the Malay peninsula. It's probable that the Japs would fight a retiring action towards Singapore, and finally make a suicide stand on the island.

Tokyo believes that a preliminary to the assault against Malaya will be British occupation of the Nicobar islands, off the northwest tip of Sumatra. That seems like another good guess on their part. Keep an eye on it!

Claims Ohio Neglecting Aid to Backward Children

CLEVELAND, July 26.—Ohio is neglecting its retarded and backward children, the assistant state commissioner of mental diseases believes.

In an address yesterday to Western Reserve university's social work school's public welfare workshop, Dr. Attilio LaGuardia said:

"In sparsely populated areas there are not enough of these retarded children to justify forming a class and hiring a teacher."

"Little is done for these children. They make up two per cent of the school population, but only about one-tenth of them get any attention. Also, we are not training enough teachers for this sort of work."

The state aide said Ohio was shunting much of its job in caring

Election To Have Little Effect On Foreign Policies

JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, July 26. — Debut of Britain's Churchill government in favor of a Labor party administration appeared certain in this Capital today to produce moderate changes in British foreign policy. These may tighten cooperation between the United Kingdom and the United States in some international spheres.

The chief changes are expected to concern the liberated countries of Europe—notably Belgium and Greece. Churchill had consistently supported right wing governments and this had been a point of friction between London and Washington. The expressed American policy being to let the people have any government they wanted.

If, as predicted, Clement Attlee replaces Churchill as prime minister, he is expected to adopt a policy much nearer that followed by President Roosevelt and President Truman. British and American concern would then be to see that the people of eastern Western Europe have full chance—guaranteed by the big powers when necessary—to choose their own governments.

Few Differences
The basic issues of cooperation among the Big Three powers—in British prosecution of the war against Japan—in British adherence to the United Nations charter, Bretton Woods agreements and the like, the incoming of a Labor government is expected to make no significant difference.

Some differences of operation may be noted at the Big Three meetings. Prior to Russia's entrance into the war with Germany, Churchill had a long anti-Communist record. He proved himself able to work with Generalissimo Stalin despite that. But the belief has always persisted here that while Stalin accepted Churchill's war aims entirely, he would be somewhat suspicious of his long-range political aims.

Attlee as prime minister would have no such record of anti-Russian policy in his distant background. But he would have this handicap: Stalin, a practical man, knew Churchill would get things done; he still has to find out about Attlee, as he has had to find out about Mr. Truman.

WARSHIP SANTA FE SETS ACTION MARK

WASHINGTON, July 26.—A 221,000-mile frontline tour—the war's longest for any major naval unit—put the light cruiser Santa Fe through 42 air strikes, 12 shore bombardments and four surface actions.

During those 25 months, the Santa Fe sank seven Japanese ships and downed as many enemy planes.

Telling the story today of her record tour of active duty without a major overhaul, the Navy said the Santa Fe did not lose a man or suffer any serious battle damage.

The vessel's toll included an enemy escort carrier, a light cruiser, a destroyer and four cargo ships. She also was the ship that went alongside the stricken aircraft carrier Franklin to help fight fires aboard the carrier and to remove more than 800 men from the flaming flatop.

Recently returned to this country for routine repairs, about 1,500 workers spent nearly a million man hours at the Terminal Island dry docks, San Pedro, Calif., completing the ship's long overdue overhaul and patching minor damage incurred while assisting the Franklin.

Now she is back on the firing line.

Salem Athletics Handed 6-4 Licking By Youngstown Nine

RABUZZI RETIRES EARLY IN CONTEST WITH BACK INJURY

Keppler Paces East Side Outfit With Three Safe Hits

The Salem Athletic club nine reverted back to their losing ways once more, although showing a marked improvement, as they dropped a 6-4 verdict to the East Side Civics of the Youngstown "AA" league at Centennial park last night.

The visitors arrived with but eight men and requested a man to fill in the vacant right field post. Joe Keppler was loaned to the Civics and found Salem pitching much to his liking as he swatted out three safeties in four trips to the platter, drove in a pair of scores and tallied one run himself.

Frank Rabuzzi started on the mound for the locals but was forced to retire in the fifth after he had pulled a muscle in his back. Up until then he had turned in a creditable performance as he struck out six and walked four in his four inning stint of duty.

Score Consistently

The Civics pushed single tallies over the platter in the first, third, sixth and seventh frames and crossed the plate twice in the second inning. The bulk of the Athletics' scoring came in the first when the locals pushed over three counters on hits by Joe Howard, Scullion and Bus Simpson. The Salem nine also added a marker in the sixth.

Goda, the Youngstown hurler, allowed the Athletics seven hits in as many frames and except for the first inning was never in serious trouble. He struck out three and walked two in chalking up the win. Al Catlos, who relieved Rabuzzi after the latter developed soreness in his back, fanned one and dished out three passes.

Keppler paced the Civics at the plate with three hits in four trips while Freeland and Bernard each belted a pair of hits. Howard and Simpson collected two singles apiece to lead the Salem attack.

Both infields turned in exceptional performances except in the cases of Bassett, Civic second sacker, and Stanley of Salem who played both third and short during the course of the game. Each was guilty of three miscues. Morrison of the locals was charged with the only other error of the game.

Feller Blanks Cubs

GREAT LAKES, Ill., July 26—Chief Specialist Bob Feller's pitching record for Great Lakes was 900 today, his ninth victory coming yesterday as he blanked the Sailors to a 1-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs, National League leaders.

The former Cleveland strikeout king held the Cubs to three hits and struck out 10 to increase his season strikeout total to 120 in 84 innings. He has lost one game.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The same day that the Big Ten issued a solemn warning to athletes returning from service that they're liable to render themselves hors de athletics if they even say "uh huh" to a professional offer, Comdr. Oscar Hagberg, the naval academy coach, came up with a slightly different idea of how to combat the pro threat to college football supremacy.

.....The Navy doesn't have to worry much about the threat as long as they have the Army-Navy game, but some of their rivals might..... Hagberg's idea is that the colleges will exploit the passing opportunities offered by the 1945 model rules more than the pros ever did..... "And I think," he added, "that a lot of the pro's good ideas have come from college coaches."..... "The main reason why many fans have been switching their loyalty wasn't that the pro clubs had better players, but that they put on a better show."

Freddie Steele, former middleweight champion, is drawing good notices for his role in the Ernie Pyle "GI Joe" picture..... G. I. fight fans in the Philippines have been sending home high praise of "Baby" Aragonas, a 15-year-old, 90-pound Filipino boy who has won 15 of 16 bouts. Wait till he grows up to a flyweight, they say..... Recent reunion at Georgia Pre-Flight school brought together Comdr. Matty Bell, athletic director, who captained the 1929 Southern Methodist U. grid team when Bell was coach. Bell was just back from a tour of the Galapagos islands and Panama.

A landlord on the island of Guernsey, in 1887, won a judgment in court against a tenant for annual rent. The rent amounted to "one fowl, one-half and one sixteenth of a fowl, one-fortieth and one four hundred and eightieth part of a fowl, 28 eggs, and three-fourths and one-eighth of an egg."

CINCY'S PURCHASE OF BOWMAN CALLED TOP SLEEPER PLAY

Ex-Red Sox Hurler Captures Eight of Ten Efforts for Redlegs

BY JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Prize sleeper play of the baseball season appears to be the sleight-of-hand trick by which Cincinnati acquired Joe Bowman from the Boston Red Sox for the nominal $7,500 waiver fee.

The 35-year-old righthander has been pitching since 1929 and has seen action with both Philadelphia clubs and the New York Giants and Pittsburgh before the Red Sox brought him back from the minors last year. This spring in Boston he was knocked out three times running, losing two decisions before Manager Joe Cronin and the other skippers waived him out of the circuit May 29.

Once Bowman arrived in Cincinnati, whether it was the handling of Willy McKechnie or the change of scenery in a new league, he became a ball of fire. Nobody beat him in five outings until the Phillies did the trick July 1. In 19 starting appearances to date, the veteran has won 8, lost 2 and gone the route eight times, making more than one fan wonder how he was shunted out of the American league.

As some of the majors went back to work after a one-day vacation in which no games were scheduled, the files were still incomplete on the Mort Cooper-Charley Barrett swap that caused so much talk. Brother Mort, still troubled by a sore arm, has started only once in a month for Boston and was on record as saying he would be able to take only short turns the rest of the season pending a winter operation. Barrett was knocked out of the box two times running by Brooklyn but he has compiled a 10-4 record in St. Louis and 12-7 for the year.

MEL HARDER FACES BROWNIES FRIDAY

CLEVELAND, July 26.—Opportunity is knocking for the Cleveland Indians, if they hope to escape from seventh place in the tight American league race.

The Tribe, idle until tomorrow night at the Stadium, meets the league-champion St. Louis Browns in 10 of the next 13 contests, spread over 11 days.

The Browns are now reposing in sixth place, two games ahead of the Indians, which puts it squarely up to Lou Boudreau's boys to win six of the 10 to go into a deadlock with the champs, or seven to take over sixth place.

Cleveland has won five of the eight games against the Browns this year, and Friday night will send Mel Harder to the mound, with Steve Gromek going Saturday in quest of his 12th win.

After the four-game set here between the Browns and Indians, the Chicago White Sox move in for three games before the Tribe heads to St. Louis for six contests.

A. L. Attendance Rises

CHICAGO, July 26.—Attendance at American league baseball games is edging towards the three million mark and despite adverse weather conditions is above corresponding figures for 1944. President Will Hardidge said today.

25,000 Watch Comedians

BALTIMORE, July 26.—Last night was Abbott and Costello night at Municipal stadium, home of Baltimore's International League Orioles, and 25,012 persons, top local crowd of the season, were on hand to see the movie comedians in person.

The pair did a skit via the amplifying system, demonstrated how to play baseball and sat in on Baltimore's 1-0 victory over Toronto.

Keep Your Old Car Fit Till New Cars are Here!

Reconversion is a slow process materials for new cars are still scarce, and the first new cars will be rationed to essential users. So, don't count on getting a new car for months, even a year or more, to come. And, in the meantime, don't let your old car go to pieces. Regular lubrication, adjustment, tune-up and inspection will be needed if it is to last out the remainder of "the duration."

Grimm Needs Good Relief Pitcher To Insure Flag

CHICAGO, July 26.—Manager Charley Grimm of the Chicago Cubs is looking for a fireman—not the red-helmeted kind but one who can put out the fires occasionally started by his major league opposition.

"One good relief pitcher could make a lot of difference in this National league pennant race," Grimm said today as he prepared for a five-game invasion of the Cincinnati Reds.

"We've been doing good with what starting pitchers we have, but if our relief was better, well—"

"Jolly Cholly" wouldn't talk about a possible pennant, although his Cubs are four and a half games in front of the pack. But the intimation was apparent.

CAMDEN, N. J.,—Gil, the Blenheim II-Galagold colt which cost John Bromley $23,000 as a yearling last season, is coming around nicely, after being stricken in the recent coughing epidemic down the line. He's a candidate for Labor day's $25,000 Garden State Stakes.

CINCINNATI — Only native of Cincinnati now on the Reds is Catcher Al Lakeman, who was a Golden Gloves boxer before taking up baseball as a profession.

REDS SEND HEUSSER AGAINST CUBS TODAY

CHICAGO, July 26.—It's up to Ed Heusser to attempt to break the monotonous string of victories the Chicago Cubs rung up over the Cincinnati Reds this season.

Heusser, with six wins behind him, is scheduled to pitch for the Reds today in the first of five Cincinnati games with Chicago. The Cubs thus far have eight-in-a-row over the Cincinnati.

Except for Frank Dasso, who is down with rheumatic fever, the Reds are in tip-top shape for the series. Unfortunately, the Cubs appear to be in good baseball health as well, since they are at the moment leading the league both at bat and in the field.

Arnold Carter, Cincinnati's only southpaw and another recent casualty, reported himself back in shape today and likely will make within the next few days his first start since May.

Big Ten Warns Athletes Against Pro Affiliation

CHICAGO, July 26.—The Big Ten yesterday warned its under-graduate athletes returning from military service that "any sort of an agreement with professional clubs will result in immediate loss of eligibility."

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson said the re-affirmation of an old rule was made by the conference eligibility committee "because many undergraduates, particularly those in or returning from military service, are being solicited by professional teams."

Rams Sign Lazetich

CLEVELAND, July 26.—Another tackle was added to the roster of the Cleveland Rams today as General Manager Charles F. Walsh of the National football league club announced he had signed Milan Lazetich of last year's University of Michigan team. He is a younger brother of Bill Lazetich, a Ram halfback in 1940 and 1942.

Ohio's Fingerprint File At State Bureau Is One Of Best

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, July 26.—Only the FBI fingerprint file at Washington tops the 1,139,807 prints on file at Ohio's Bureau of Criminal Investigation at London prison farm.

L. A. Hollingsworth, acting superintendent of the bureau, said in an interview that of the total number, 1,064,777 are fingerprints of persons with criminal records, and 75,000 are prints of civilians, most of whom are war plant workers and U. S. government employees.

The necessity of fingerprinting civilian workers since the war started has increased the number of civilian prints on file, Hollingsworth explained. The state bureau receives and checks an average of 300 prints a day.

The state investigation bureau daily receives from the FBI a report of every arrest made of anyone born in Ohio or who ever resided in the state.

Fingerprints of industrial and government workers who were former Ohioans are received from industries and government agencies throughout the nation.

One of First In Nation

The Ohio bureau is one of the first state bureaus in the nation. It was created under Ohio law Aug. 1, 1923, to establish a central investigation bureau to coordinate the work of local law enforcement agencies.

Under Ohio law local police officials and county sheriffs are required to send to the state bureau the fingerprints of all persons arrested for other than minor traffic violations.

All inmates of state institutions except the Boys' industrial school and the Girls' industrial school are fingerprinted and their records filed at the state bureau.

In 1944, the bureau received 40,276 fingerprints from police sources, and 57,852 prints from industry and government agencies.

The number of police prints received by the bureau is increasing. Hollingsworth reported, predicting, "crime will increase after the war. It is now."

Experts identify fingerprints by the loops, whorls and arches of the ridges of skin tissue. Hollingsworth explained. Prints are enlarged 20 times for study.

The Ohio bureau has aided, through identification by fingerprints, in solving criminal cases in many parts of the world.

"Quite a few Americans in South America get into trouble, and the local police check back with us," Hollingsworth said.

Before finger printing became general, criminals were identified by berrillon measurements identifying criminals by height, weight, cheek width, length of ears, and other physical characteristics. The state bureau has a berrillon file of approximately 50,000 cards, some dating back to 1879.

Extensive Index File
The bureau also maintains an index file of approximately 1,311,283 cards, showing names, aliases, fingerprint classifications, and descriptions of criminals together with dates of arrests and previous convictions. Photographic files at the bureau contain 53,055 negatives of persons who have entered the three state penal institutions. Other bureau records include a wanted and missing persons file, a stolen gun file of about 10,000 records, and a single fingerprint file containing the prints only of subjects known to have committed major crimes.

Fred Dengler, the bureau's ballistics expert, has aided in solving many crimes by identification of bullets.

"Every make of gun has a certain twist," Hollingsworth asserted. "All we need is the lethal bullet and a test bullet from the gun."

The bureau's special-type camera can reveal whether a window was broken on the inside or from the outside by the way the glass is bent.

Hollingsworth said the bureau's chief needs are a lie detector and a chemist to increase the bureau's efficiency.

The bureau also holds classes to teach local police officers from all parts of the state how to identify fingerprints.
